Around the World in 80 Days

A practice run of an attempt to circumnavigate (now there's a big word!) the Globe in not less than 80 days has been hailed as a major success.

Participants set themselves the arduous tasks of:-

- a) Boarding a ferry bound for Denmark, whilst leaving the appropriate tickets back in Scalby.
- b) Arriving at the ferry port on the return journey in time to wave goodbye to the ferry, before
- c) Setting off on a mammoth, ozone-busting, 1,000 mile trek across no less than 4 countries - enduring the hardship that only an air-conditioned Range Rover can offer.
- d) Crossing the checkpoint into Germany with only 1 passport between them (luckily, all Tablers look alike to them).
- e) Doubling the traffic flow on "Le Shuttle" to arrive back in England "smiling and relaxed" (as a newt in some cases!).

The modern day Thelius Fogg in charge of arrangements admitted that there had been a few "minor set backs", but refused to Pindar blame on anyone.

"80 days - no problem" quipped Andrew - "I shall be making all the arrangements personally ....."

This Week's Roundup of Party Politics

The packed party chez Whitely was a great success - congratulations to Mike and Lol! A few of the highlights are featured below:-

Photo 1 Scottish Gatecrasher found at party. Later insisted on wearing a string vest and being called 'Rob'.

Photo 3 News that Andy Atkins doesn't want another beer is greeted with some surprise ..... (he had in fact moved on to malt).

Joke of the Week

Paper bag goes to the doctor feeling unwell. The doctor says "I can't find anything wrong with you, but I'll run some tests - come back tomorrow"

The next day dawns and the paper bag returns. "Sit down" says the doctor. "I'm afraid the news is bad - you've got AIDS".

"Oh no!" cries the paper bag. "I can't have - I'm not even a person".

"Sorry" says the doctor. "Your father must have been a Carrier ....."

60th Charter Dinner/Aalton Table Visit

CS Matters (Oh yes it does!)

Wishing Well

Many thanks to Chris Tate and Trevor for helping resurrect the Well.

Andy Moran has kindly devised the following Rota. Please, please stick to it - we have now spent nearly £400 plus time and effort on our dear well. There is little doubt that regular, weekly collections are the best deterrent against further break ins.

All necessary equipment/instruction from Simon prior to emptying. Go for it men!

It can only be described as a Pitch and Putt course, but it is the best in our area. Clubs and balls provided. Introducing a competitive spirit on a balmy summer's night should make for an enjoyable time.

29th August	Old Town Pub Crawl. Meeting place and time to be advised.

Beer and food will come out of the fellowship funds allowable for that night, ie £10 per head for as long as it lasts.

12th September	Clay shooting and speaker. Meeting at George Green's farm. Time and venue for food to be advised. Ray McHale as speaker?

26th September	Filey Rat Catcher. Meet in sewers.
----------------	------------------------------------

I do hope the meetings listed above, that will take us through until September, offer something for present and potential members to enjoy. We, along with council, would like all present members to actively look out for people who would enjoy the activities we have lined up (remember, you will be refunded for any potentials that are subsequently inducted). With a mixture of high quality meetings and the support of current Tablers, our numbers should rise quite considerably this year.
